

The Annual Hagop S. Mekhjian Medical Ethics and Professionalism
Medical Centerwide Grand Rounds

Farr Curlin, MD

Josiah C. Trent Professor of Medical Humanities
Trent Center for Bioethics, Humanities & History of Medicine

Co-Director, Theology, Medicine and Culture
Initiative at Duke Divinity School

“What Does Religion Have to Do With Medicine?”

Thursday, September 15

Continental Breakfast 6:30 a.m.

Grand Rounds 7 a.m.

Biomedical Research Tower Auditorium Room 115

The event will be live simulcast to:

- Ross Heart Hospital Auditorium
- Davis Heart and Lung Research Institute Auditorium
- University Hospital East Wallace Auditorium
- Rardin Conference Room
- Eye & Ear Institute Auditorium

All faculty and staff are invited to this event. The conversation about faith and medicine continues immediately following Grand Rounds at the 2nd Annual Ohio State University Medical Ethics Conference 2016.

Visit go.osu.edu/MedicalEthicsConference for additional details and to register.

